DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the Applicant's amendment filed on 08/18/2006.
2. Claims 1-21 have been amended.
3. Claims 1-21 are pending and presented for examination.
4. The Applicant's amendment filed on August 18, 2006, overcomes the rejections under 35 U. S. C. 112, second paragraph and 35 U. S. C. 101 set forth previously in this application.

In view of Applicant's amendment and remarks, the Examiner has fully considered the amendments and remarks and believes that they are deemed to be persuasive

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-21 are allowed in light of the prior art made of record.

Reasons for Indicating Allowable Subject Matter

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Upon searching a variety of databases, the examiner respectfully submits that: --an object-oriented program including an object having objects item that store optional data and a plurality of functions containing a master class which comprises attributes that contains an item discriminator selectively storing item names of the object items, an item type information selectively storing an item type of data to be stored in the object item; and address information pointing to a memory address stored with the data, wherein the item discriminator inputted from the data storing function comprises location information of a predetermined data structure, relation between objects formed by allowing the object items in the object to point other object item, and wherein the data storing function stores the data in an object item of a position corresponding to the location information-- as embodied in independent claim 1, in combination with claim 5, in context with the other limitations of the claims was not disclosed by, would not have been obvious over, nor would have been fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

The other dependent claims, being further limiting to the independent claim, definite and fully enabled by the Specification are also allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
